

with treatment.

Long-term side effects are more of a concern

On the other hand, children's bodies are still growing, and they're more likely to have side effects from some types of treatment. For example, children (especially very young

3. www.cancer.org/cancer/survivorship/children-with-cancer/finding-treatment/pediatric-cancer-centers.html